Government of Gujarat is celebrating women empowermentfortnight,so as a part of celebration “Swavalamban divas” AVPTI,women cell under the guidance of honorable principal Dr.A.S.Pandya sir a talk was organized on “Introduction of Agencies working to protect women.”

As the harassment of women in the society is increasing day by day the awareness among the public is a essential part so that they can educate themselves and the people around them.

Dakshaben joshi(Head of SAKHI one stop center) enlightened the students about the activities going under SAKHI one stop center.Under one roof a victim can get all types of support and guidance like

- Medical

- Police help
- Social issues
- Domestic violence
- Women rights
- Shelter

Asmitaben Gadhiya (councilor PBSC) gave a detailed information of 181 app and she made a live demonstration of the same. All the staff and the students installed the app and registered their name in the application. This app basically helps to get in touch with 181 service and informs the family members whose numbers they added in the application during emergency situation. All of them enjoyed the session. Helping women technologically is a step forward towards 21st century.

Mridangi ben (Sanskrit professor), she gave a description worth listening lecture about women empowerment in general. All the students and staff applauded her speech as it was filled with enthusiasm for the women.

There was a skit enacted to show the empowerment of women. All the students enjoyed how the girls of their age performed so well about getting help in cases of emergencies.

Tusharbai (181 service) gave a detailed report about 181 service. During the year 4 lac plus phone calls have been registered and 80,000 on the spot help reached to the spot and many other which is appreciable and quite surprising to know that this many women have been helped and secured.

The program was very successful and worthwhile for all participants and members.

Organizer of the event, Women Cell, AVPTI, Rajkot , Dr. Jyotiba Jhala (chair person) Mrs. Hemali Ben Rupareliya (co-ordinator) and women cell team have worked with enthusiasm .
